

Title of the Paper

ISAAC MEHLHAFF

This is the question I am asking in this paper? This is a secondary question I am investigating in this paper? These questions present an interesting puzzle because... I argue that... Here I am name-dropping some examples that I will later elaborate on that support the claim I just made. I will support my thesis using three arguments: by very briefly presenting these arguments now, I am giving the reader an overview of the rest of the paper.

This topic sentence corresponds to the first argument I presented in the introductory paragraph. Here I am briefly elaborating on that argument. This argument helps support my thesis because... I have three reasons for thinking this or examples of where we can see this argument in practice: First... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... (Mehlhoff 2019). Second... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... Third... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... Taking those reasons or examples together offers support for this argument. This is how the first argument connects to the second argument.

This topic sentence corresponds to the second argument I presented in the introductory paragraph. Here I am briefly elaborating on that argument. This argument helps support my thesis because... I have three reasons for thinking this or examples of where we can see this argument in practice: First... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... (Mehlhoff 2019). Second... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... Third... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... Taking those reasons or examples together offers support for this argument. This is how the second argument connects to the third argument.

This topic sentence corresponds to the third argument I presented in the introductory paragraph. Here I am briefly elaborating on that argument. This argument helps support my thesis because... I have three reasons for thinking this or examples of where we can see this argument in practice: First... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... (Mehlhoff 2019). Second... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... Third... This reason or example connects to the argument or thesis because... Taking those reasons or examples together offers support for this argument.

In this paper, I argue for the thesis that I am restating here. Even though you just read all of this above, I am restating the arguments that I used to support that thesis just in case you were not paying close attention or I did not make the connections clear. I defend my thesis using three arguments: First... Second... Third... Some interesting implications of my thesis are... Future writing on this subject should take my argument and use it to explain...

References

Mehlhoff, Isaac. (October 2019). "This is an Article I Cited in the Text." In: This Awesome Journal 12, no. 34. pp. 123-456.